

Attention Homes

Fiscal Year 2019 Annual Report

FY: 10.1.2018 - 9.30.2019

GABBY'S STORY

Dear friends,

Thanks to your support, dreams became a reality in 2019.

In November 2019, Attention Homes launched one of the country's few permanent supportive housing projects for youth and young adults--the Attention Homes Apartments. The project, which was five years in the making, is emblematic of the passion and ambition of this organization. Community champions, staff, and board worked diligently to garner support, raise funds, partner with state and local governments, and endure a complicated construction schedule to bring this creative solution to youth homelessness to life.

This project is just one example of Attention Homes foresight, capacity for growth, and ability to respond to the needs of youth in our communities.

We have developed a continuum of care--emergency shelter and drop-in services, residential care for youth in the child welfare system, and supportive housing for youth--that breaks the cycle of homelessness. Yet, there is more work to be done.

Even as our current programs are at capacity, we are partnering with other communities in our state to create solutions to youth homelessness. We are also working with legislators to forge statewide systems and leverage resources to build brighter futures for youth experiencing homelessness.

At Attention Homes, we recognize and celebrate the resilience and strength of the young people in our programs. The challenges and instability they have experienced do not define them. Rather, they are individuals full of potential who can succeed with our support.

Thank you for joining us in this essential work.

Chris Nelson, CEO

Andrew Burwick, 2019 Board Chair

Attention Homes is constantly evolving and growing to meet the needs of young people who are experiencing homelessness in our community. We started with a Residential Care Program in 1966, serving youth ages 12-18 who were in the child welfare system. After decades of doing that work, we saw 30% of youth exiting our program into homelessness. This prompted us to open an Emergency Shelter and Drop-In Center in 2010 with supportive services around education, employment, family reunification, physical and mental health, and overall well-being. In 2015 we saw a need for accessible housing for our program participants. Therefore, Attention Homes launched a Transitional Living Program by pairing program participants with subsidies to secure housing. In November 2019 we completed the Attention Homes Apartments: a 40-unit, housing-first apartment project with on-site supportive services. Through this proven continuum of care we provide prevention, intervention, and solutions to the issue of youth homelessness.

FY 2019 Outputs

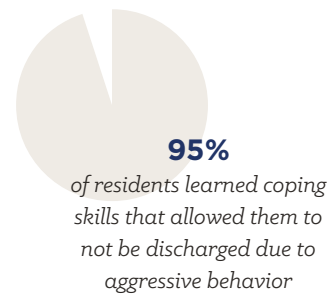

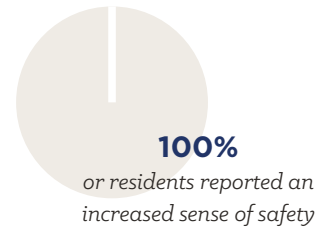

A safe, structured, home-like atmosphere for youth placed through social services due to family disruptions and other crises

TAKE ACTION : A gift of $1,000 provides a minor with 20 hours of counseling, including family coaching.

Gabby's parents had a long history of substance use and were routinely putting Gabby and her siblings in dangerous situations. As an elementary and middle school student, Gabby managed the household and took care of her younger brothers. She was the one getting them up for school every day. She was the one making sure they had dinner every night. Then when Gabby was 17 years old, Boulder County was notified of their home situation. Everything changed. Her brothers were sent to a foster care home, but at nearly 18 years old, there was no foster option for Gabby. Attention Homes' Residential Program was the safest alternative. She was placed in our care and this was the first place where Gabby was taken care of, rather than being responsible for taking care of others. When she was getting ready to turn 18 we needed to find another safe space for her to go.

TAKE ACTION : Bring a home-cooked meal to youth living in our Emergency Shelter.

Gabby was now 18 years old and soon would age out of Attention Homes' Residential Program. She considered returning to her parents but was determined to get away from that lifestyle and become an independent adult. With that goal in mind, Attention Homes' Residential Program staff helped Gabby transition to our Runaway and Homeless Youth Shelter. With access to safe housing, basic services, and case-specific support, Gabby was able to accomplish a lot during her stay at our emergency shelter. She graduated from high school, engaged in therapy, got a job, and saved up enough money to buy a car and computer. Against all odds, her employer consistently reported that Gabby was an extremely reliable employee. It is a testament to her character that she was able to achieve so much despite the stressors associated with staying at an emergency shelter. After a few months Gabby expressed interest in independent housing and started working with our Transitional Living Program Case Manager to meet her next goals.

Transitional Living Program FY 2019 Outcomes

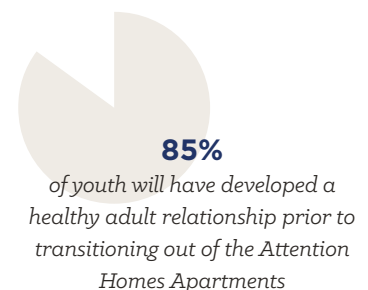

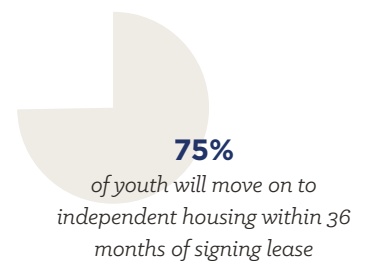

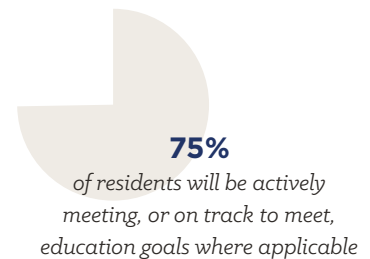

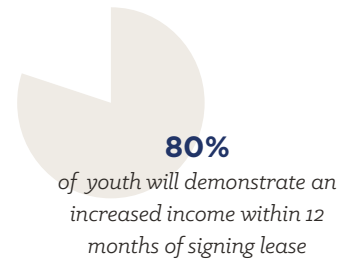

Attention Homes built Colorado's first non-time-limited supportive housing community with 40 units for formerly homeless youth

TAKE ACTION : We can help you house a young tenant in your rental property while maintaining rental income.

Over the course of six months, Gabby worked with our Transitional Living Program Case Manager, gaining independent living skills to ensure success after leaving our program. When she was 19 years old she transitioned into her own apartment and has been consistently growing and meeting individual goals around stable employment, furthering her education, mental health, and repairing relationships. Gabby has been stably employed, she's working on repairing her relationship with her mom, and just applied for a scholarship to Front Range Community College. Additionally, Gabby has been working with our Clinical Director to address anxiety issues resulting in large part from her tumultuous upbringing. We've watched as Gabby has grown into a stable and thriving young woman. She has big dreams for her future and hopes to own her own business one day.
