

ANNUAL REPORT

Fiscal Year 2017

This past year recorded three “firsts” for Attention Homes: a shift in our fiscal year calendar, Planning Board approval of the Attention Homes Apartments, and total revenue surpassing the two million dollar mark for the very first time. It was a busy year indeed!

DEAR FRIENDS,

As a non-profit that relies on extensive community giving, nearly 30% of our annual budget is typically raised during the October – December period. With financial sustainability as a key strategic goal, we opted to change from a calendar fiscal year to October- September which allows for improved financial planning and aligns with our largest source of federal funding.

In the midst of an affordable housing crisis, nearly 30% of our clients 18-24 years of age were literally homeless and living on the streets. That fact and our vision to ensure that every young person has a safe place to live and the attention they need led our drive to develop 40 units of supportive housing for young people experiencing homelessness. With the encouragement of City Council and hundreds of citizens who voiced their support, Planning Board approval was granted in July and financing closed this past December. We are forever indebted to the First United Methodist Church of Boulder for their gift of land and the congregation’s support behind this project. Completion is currently scheduled for summer of 2019.

Serving over 500 youth this past year, we are incredibly grateful to our circle of supporters for a diverse stream of funding that continues to generate a rich cross section of individuals, volunteers, corporate partners, foundations, government funders, faith communities and service clubs. Together, we were able to deepen our impact and ensure that basic needs were met along with case management, counseling, employment and educational support, life-skills training, equine therapy, family reunification, and transitional housing. We have continued to invest in our staff and a culture that exudes transparency, resourcefulness, and accountability within a diverse, welcoming community that is filled with hope and opportunity.

As our leadership team transitions this next year and Attention Homes continues on a path of growth and innovation, our success and that of our youth is a reflection of the many individuals and organizations that recognize the courage, resilience and potential of a young person striving for a better future. Thank you for investing in Attention Homes and for recognizing the responsibility we all share in building a healthy and vibrant community.

Warm regards,

Claire Clurman

VOLUNTEERS

“ I volunteer for Attention Homes because I believe in kids and making a positive difference. I want to enable a future where nobody goes unnoticed, unloved or unsupported. Our community should be extending a hand up to all in need and Attention Homes provides that.”

—Jeffrey Joe Hinton, 2017 Vern Gardner Distinguished Service Award Winner

We would not be able to serve the youth we do without the help from our many volunteers. In 2017, over 830 individuals and 21 groups volunteered over 11,000 hours to our youth. Attention Homes is proud and grateful for our volunteers that help shape the community we live in every single day by volunteering their time and heart.

ATTENTION HOMES

Apartments

We embarked on an amazing journey over 3 years ago to identify how to create access to affordable and supported housing for youth and young adults experiencing homelessness. A lack of affordable housing in Boulder was one of the largest barriers that young people faced on the road to stability and self-sufficiency. In partnership with Gardner Capital, a national affordable housing developer and First United Methodist Church of Boulder, a site was identified and the Attention Homes Apartments project was underway.

WE KNOW THIS MODEL WORKS!

We toured a multitude of similar projects from California to the Midwest to New York and spoke with architects, service providers, property managers and most importantly, the young adult tenants of these similar projects. Each conversation with the tenants of these projects played out a consistent theme: With access to affordable housing and the tailored and developmentally appropriate services and supports, youth were thriving. Young adults were moving from homelessness to stability, and into self-sufficiency. They were developing a sense of belonging and finding the pathways to pursue their goals. They were finishing their education, maintaining their employment and gaining traction in their career paths.

The past three years has been an incredible journey, and now, with construction underway, we are just months away from the realization of this incredible dream! In the summer of 2019, we will start leasing apartments to 40 youth and young adults in our community that have the deepest need. With the ongoing support of the community, we can ensure that safe, affordable and supported housing is available for generations to come!
