Dear Friends,

It seems that year after year we witness the incredible resilience we as human beings possess. Through economic challenges, global pandemics and uncertainties in everyday life, the capacity to recover quickly from difficulties is apparent through people we know and experiences we have gone through.

Young people are the epitome of this. Their ability to persevere and bounce back in the face of adversity is not only inspiring, but motivating. And this ability only grows stronger when it is coupled with support. In a tumultuous and challenging year, TGTHR saw young people rise to challenge after challenge, continuing to grow and better themselves.

This tenacity to succeed rippled throughout the organization in 2021. Despite limitations in place due to COVID-19, it was an energizing year of continued evolution for TGTHR and the young people we serve. Now, more than ever, we are determined to end youth homelessness, and know that it's possible. By focusing on stakeholder collaboration and community engagement, we were able to expand our outreach and housing programs, and continue planning for future growth. (Read our growth milestones on page 3).

In addition, our existing programs – emergency shelter, residential program, drop-in center, outreach, and housing programs – continued to thrive safely throughout another pandemic year. And we are gratified to see the outcomes of our work – including young people achieving their academic goals, gaining and maintaining employment, and transitioning from our programs to independent housing.

We are grateful to the individuals, government agencies, businesses, and community organizations who have been steady allies in our vision of ending youth homelessness. By collaborating with partners statewide and beyond, TGTHR is creating a foundation for serving more young people in more places. We are incredibly excited about the ambitious movement we're creating to end youth homelessness, and we thank you for joining us.

LET'S END YOUTH HOMELESSNESS

We believe growth is rooted in relationships

We believe in wildly celebrating resilience

We believe there is strength in diversity

We believe in promoting youth voices

We believe that housing is a fundamental right

MAKING YOUTH HOMELESSNESS RARE, BRIEF, AND NON-RECURRING

By focusing on providing safe affordable housing; improving young people's physical, social, and emotional well-being; supporting education and employment paths; and fostering permanent connections.

To transition from homelessness to safe and stable housing, youth need permanent connections with caring and supportive adults, with opportunities to reconnect with family and repair relationships (if doing so is safe and appropriate for that young person). They need safe and stable housing. They need education and employment services. They need programs that promote their social-emotional well-being and deal with issues such as trauma, depression and substance use.

An overarching commitment to approaching these four core areas in a youth-centric way guides every aspect of our work.

2021 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Growth

Partnered with the City of Longmont and the City of Boulder to streamline our street outreach efforts. These teams connected 1,099 individuals with resources.

Reach

Despite COVID-19 putting limitations on our programs, TGTHR provided 343 youth and young adults a safe place to stay and other critical services.

Justice

Formed TGTHR's first-ever Justice, Equity, Diversity, Inclusion (JEDI) Committee, which led efforts in advancing equity across the organization.

Expansion

Secured land and funding, including a Low Income Housing Tax Credit award, for a new, 56-unit housing project in Denver, opening in 2024.

Stability

Maintained operations of our Residential, Shelter, Drop-In, Outreach, and Housing programs throughout another pandemic year.

Advocacy

Contributed to the development of two pieces of legislation and testified to these bills in committee at the State Capitol.

Sustainability

Established a sustainable funding model for our work, including the creation of an endowment campaign to ensure this work will continue for decades to come.

Awareness

Developed relationships with state, local, and federal legislators to ensure they're aware of how youth homelessness is affecting our cities, state, and country.

“Not only getting through homelessness, but in a way of growing in maturity. There’s so much good to it knowing that you got out of a hard situation to now I’m paying for my own place, I’m buying my own food, I’m paying my electrical bill and my phone bill.”

(JUSTICE, EQUITY DIVERSITY, AND INCLUSION)

At the core, ending youth homelessness is a cause rooted deeply in justice. We believe housing is a right, and we know that individuals who are Black, Indigenous and people of color (BIPOC), LGBTQ+, as well as those with disabilities, experience homelessness at disproportionate rates.

29% of TGTHR youth identify as LGBTQ+

37% of TGTHR youth identify as Black, Indigenous, and people of color

25% of TGTHR youth have a developmental disability

In 2021, TGTHR's JEDI Committee helped facilitate the following steps of progress toward becoming a more inclusive, diverse, and equitable organization.

Increased wages
10-15%

in entry level and mid management positions

$15,000

were dedicated to JEDI work in organization

At TGTHR, we are committed to existing as a community and organization that supports all to thrive and prosper. TGTHR understands that wellness, safety and prosperity cannot exist for individuals or communities without actively dismantling oppressive structures within our organization and greater communities. In order to take on the structural inequities we face as a society, we must take a systems-level approach. For TGTHR, this means engaging in every aspect of our work through a JEDI lens - from service delivery, to continuing to foster a culture of inclusion and belonging, to strengthening our efforts to diversify our staff. TGTHR is committed to igniting and implementing lasting structural change within our organization and beyond.

HERE'S WHAT'S ON THE HORIZON

Increasing opportunities for youth to take leadership roles in our programs

Improving policies to ensure they integrate equitable practices for all

Providing more training for youth, staff, and volunteers to continue advancing anti-racism and equity

PROVIDING SHELTER AND HOUSING

"We all came from hard, separate paths, and putting us all here in one building we get to help one another and learn from each other, as well as all be lifted up at the same time."

1440 Pine Tenant

Housing, coupled with supportive services, not only provides young people a stable place to live in the present; it can help prevent them from experiencing homelessness in the future. TGTHR's emergency shelter and residential care programs help youth meet their immediate needs for safety and provide connections to essential services, such as counseling and family engagement support. Our housing programs help put young people on a path towards long-term stability by offering them the opportunity to create a home, access employment and education services, and a community and services that can help them become physically and emotionally healthier.

With new projects on the horizon, TGTHR is growing to meet the need for additional supportive housing, so that we can partner with more young people as they transition out of homelessness, build resiliency, and create a future where they achieve their full potential.

OUTCOMES:

18,097 NIGHTS OF SAFE STAYS

TGTHR provided 18,097 stable nights of safe sleep to youth in the foster care system, youth experiencing homelessness, and youth who were previously homeless.

74 SAFE AND STABLE EXITS

74 young people safely transitioned to a stable living situation outside of TGTHR.

63 SAFELY HOUSED

TGTHR's Housing Programs housed 63 young people.

HOUSING PROGRAMS:

1440 Pine: A 40-unit housing complex that provides an inclusive community with support staff and an array of activities and services for young people between the ages of 18-24.

Transitional Living Program: Connects young people between the ages of 18-24 with safe and stable housing in the greater community. Once housed, Case Managers meet with young people involved in this program to help ensure they remain stably housed.

What we're doing differently:

Traditional affordable housing approaches do not take a person's past trauma or current circumstances into consideration, nor do they provide supportive services.

In TGTHR's housing programs, the creation and implementation of policies, staff training, and layout of physical spaces are designed through a trauma-informed lens. Transparency with expectations, flexible lease accommodations, and Case Managers, paired with a supportive and inclusive environment, all help young people remain housed.

HERE'S WHAT STABLE HOUSING ACHIEVES:

Long-term Housing: 90% of Transitional Living Program participants maintained housing 6 months or longer.

Increased Income: 57% of young people at 1440 Pine saw an increase in income after being housed.

Housing Stability: 81% of youth leaving 1440 Pine transitioned to independent stable housing.

Tackling youth homelessness in more places:

Three years ago TGTHR committed to growing our housing programs, by expanding the Transitional Living Program and building 1440 Pine, a 40-unit supportive housing complex. Continuing on that path of growth, TGTHR is excited to open a new 56-unit supportive housing project in Denver in 2024. This building will follow the same successful model as 1440 Pine - safe affordable housing paired with supports to help young adults move from homelessness to self-sufficiency.

"They have so much hope for their future and it's just awesome to watch it happen
and to watch them grow."

CIDNEE RAY

TGTHR Housing Programs Manager

Being in good physical and emotional health enables young people to develop healthy coping mechanisms and emotional management skills to deal with the challenges of adolescence and homelessness. TGTHR addresses all aspects of an individual's well-being, which includes physical, mental, and social health, and the opportunities they have to create meaningful futures. Food, clothing, housing, and healthcare all contribute to our well-being.

Impact area

IMPROVING PHYSICAL, SOCIAL, & EMOTIONAL WELL-BEING

WHAT WE'RE DOING DIFFERENTLY:

TGTHR's model is to create a one-stop shop for as many services and resources as possible for young people. In addition to meeting young people's basic needs and providing safe places for them to stay as they gain stability, TGTHR provides an array of on-site supportive services and pro-social activities to help youth become both physically and emotionally healthier.

54%

of TGTHR youth reported struggling with their mental health

30%

of TGTHR youth have a history of trafficking/exploitation

OUTCOMES:

OVER 50 PEOPLE VACCINATED

In addition to facilitating over 400 on and off-site healthcare appointments, TGTHR hosted two COVID-19 vaccine clinics.

OVER 9,000 HOURS OF BEHAVIORAL HEALTHCARE DELIVERED

110 young people participated in TGTHR's behavioral health programming which includes individual counseling, equine therapy, life-skills development, case management, substance use counseling, LGBTQ+ support, and mental health support.

OVER 17,000 MEALS SERVED

TGTHR serves three meals per day to over 60 youth and young adults every day of the year.

Impact area

SUPPORTING EDUCATION & EMPLOYMENT

TGTHR recognizes that strong employment pathways and access to education opportunities are key to ending youth homelessness. Youth without a high school diploma or GED are more than three times as likely to experience homelessness than their peers who have graduated high school. The power of education, and its value as a precursor to stable and gainful employment, is something that our Case Managers and Employment Specialists reinforce regularly with our program participants. Equipping youth with the opportunities and tools needed for a successful future must inform our efforts at all levels to prevent and end youth homelessness.

WHAT WE'RE DOING DIFFERENTLY:

We don't just refer young people to a job board to find employment or give them a list of schools; we support them from the first step on their path as they explore their options and personal goals and take steps toward achieving those goals. At TGTHR, we minimize as many barriers as possible. This means we bring a GED program on site, help young people secure vital documents so they are able to apply for a job, host resume writing workshops, prep with a young person for an internship interview, drive youth to job interviews, proofread admittance essays, shop for work clothes, and so much more.

346%

Youth without a high school diploma are at a 346% increased risk of experiencing homelessness

98%

of young people in our housing programs accessed voluntary supportive services

OUTCOMES:

EDUCATION: 62

62 young people enrolled in school or an educational program while at TGTHR.

EMPLOYMENT: 51

51 young people secured or maintained employment while at TGTHR.

CASE MANAGEMENT: 146

146 young people engaged in case management services that helped them set personal goals and remain on track in meeting those goals.

A young person's experience of homelessness often has deep roots in family conflict, poverty, and trauma. A strong support system and a sense of belonging are key protective factors for youth and can help them create a stable future. At TGTHR, we work with the young people in our programs to build the communities and supportive networks they need to exit homelessness and fulfill their potential.

Impact area

FOSTERING PERMANENT CONNECTIONS

WHAT WE'RE DOING DIFFERENTLY:

TGTHR actively engages young people in external community activities in various ways. Through field trips, community events, and bringing partner agencies on site to host activities, TGTHR youth are afforded many opportunities to engage with their community and build a support system outside of TGTHR. We also prioritize creating supportive community environments internally in our programs so that young people are able to build strong connections with positive people at TGTHR.

80%

of TGTHR youth have experienced domestic violence, abuse, neglect, and/or family breakup

30%

of TGTHR youth were previously in the foster care system

OUTCOMES:

PROSOCIAL ACTIVITIES: 1,803

TGTHR facilitated 1,803 prosocial activities for young people.

HELP SECURING VITAL DOCUMENTS: 15

TGTHR staff helped 15 young people secure vital documents such as a birth certificate or social security card.

FAMILY ENGAGEMENT: 56

TGTHR provided counseling to 56 families to support positive connections and reunification, and successfully helped 30 young people in safely transitioning out of our programs to live with family.

VOLUNTEERS

"National Charity League (NCL) has been working with TGTHR since 2018 ... We know that many people and not just youth have needed extra support. We believe in TGTHR's mission to end youth homelessness and are so grateful to be able to partner with them to help support this mission."

"As a legislator, I prioritize housing. And providing housing for homeless youth, TGTHR does that in a way unlike any other organization. Leaving home at the age of 15, I have firsthand experience of what it's like and how unprepared you are for adulthood. Anything I can do to help youth avoid the struggles that I personally had, I will absolutely support."
