

MAKING STRIDES

 ANNUAL REPORT
Fiscal Year 2023

Dear TGTHR Friends,

2023 was indeed a significant year for us at TGTHR, made possible by the relentless support and contributions of our donors, community partners, government agencies, businesses, foundations, volunteers, staff members, board members, and crucially, our young program participants here at TGTHR.

Our fifty-seven-year-long mission to eradicate youth homelessness continued in 2023, reaching 263 individuals with our services, provided through our overnight shelter, residential program, drop-in center, and housing programs. Seeing young people achieve their academic ambitions, secure and retain jobs, and move from our programs into independent housing is a source of immense pride for us.

While the work is not done, you'll see in this report that our program participants continue to make strides in their lives, from securing stable housing and jobs to enrolling in school and even joining sports teams.

In 2023, I was welcomed as CEO and am honored to work with TGTHR leadership as we steer the implementation of a revamped strategic plan, realigning our priorities, and enhancing our services, capacity, and systems while centering youth voice.

In addition, we celebrated the groundbreaking of Nest56 at Denargo Market, a significant step in our expansion vision. This 56-unit affordable housing project is dedicated to supporting 18-24-year-olds facing homelessness. Located in the vibrant RiNo Arts District of Denver, TGTHR will provide supportive services to this community, reinforcing our commitment to aid more communities in combating youth homelessness with our proven care model. We are eager to grow into a regional organization, extending our positive impact to more communities.

We are grateful to the countless individuals who have been steady allies in our vision of ending youth homelessness. By collaborating with partners statewide and beyond, TGTHR is creating a foundation for serving more young people in more places. Thank you for joining us.

In partnership,

Annie Bacci
CEO

Amanda Cole
Board Chair

VALUES

- * We believe growth is rooted in relationships
- * We believe in wildly celebrating resilience
- * We believe there is strength in diversity
- * We believe in promoting youth voices
- * We believe that housing is a fundamental right

MAKING YOUTH HOMELESSNESS RARE, BRIEF, AND NON-RECURRING

At TGTHR, young people are offered an array of services including employment and education assistance, housing navigation, support groups, individual and family counseling, life skills development, mental and physical wellness support, and a variety of group activities to foster an inclusive environment and supportive relationships.

A CLOSER LOOK AT WHO WE SERVE

Many of our youth have previously experienced:

Unsheltered nights (66%)
 Trafficking/exploitation (18%)
 Mental health concerns (49%)
 Violence and conflict (49%)
 Foster care (27%)

TGTHR provides an upstream solution to chronic homelessness and moves young people from instability to long-term stability and self-sufficiency.

People of color continue to be overrepresented among TGTHR youth, with 47% of TGTHR youth identifying as BIPOC compared to 6% of the overall population in Boulder County.

STABLE
HOUSING

 At TGTHR, we are ending youth homelessness by providing programs that improve young people's physical, social, and emotional well-being; supporting education and employment paths; fostering permanent connections with caring adults and the community; and focusing on helping youth secure safe and stable housing. An overarching commitment to these four core areas guides every aspect of our work.

TACKLING YOUTH HOMELESSNESS

"I have to stay on track when I'm alone and stay disciplined and motivated and stuff. I mean, it's important to still have friends and have those outlets, but obviously it's important to stay focused while you have a goal and you have a lot of stuff that you're working on, which is really big."

EXPANDING TO TACKLE YOUTH HOMELESSNESS

Extending Services to a New Community

TGTHR celebrated the groundbreaking of Nest56 at Denargo Market, the 56-unit supportive housing complex in Denver dedicated to 18-24-year-olds experiencing homelessness. Opening in 2024, TGTHR will provide youth-centered, developmentally appropriate, voluntary supportive services, modeled after its successful programs at 1440 Pine, a supportive housing project in Boulder. Case Managers will help young people build education and employment pathways, continue to learn and use life skills necessary to navigate independent living, foster permanent connections within the community, and exit to independent housing when appropriate.

Increasing Capacity

In 2023, TGTHR participated in the Statewide Supportive Housing Expansion (SWSHE) Project that utilizes federal funding to support organizations that provide wraparound services. TGTHR's engagement in this project will bring a youth-centered lens to policies on financing for supportive services in housing. This funding will be used to provide youth who are on Medicaid with services that support them in obtaining and/or maintaining stable housing. In addition, TGTHR was able to become an enrolled Medicaid provider, increasing access to behavioral healthcare for participants and enabling TGTHR to provide a more therapeutic model of care across all of our programs.

Welcoming New Leadership

In 2023, TGTHR brought on Annie Bacci as its new CEO to lead the organization and prepare for planned growth. Bringing nearly 20 years of professional experience in creating supportive housing opportunities for youth and young adults while working at the intersection of systems, policy, and program design, Annie has provided overall strategic direction for the region, including leading work in several states to create permanent housing solutions for youth experiencing homelessness. Annie also has prior experience at the Colorado Department of Local Affairs, Division of Housing (DOLA) where she oversaw the Homelessness and Supportive Housing unit as the Manager of Homeless Programs. This new era of leadership in TGTHR will support our vision for growth while stabilizing internal processes and keeping youth voice at the forefront of all our work.

HOUSING PROGRAMS

"When I was newly homeless at 16, I didn't have the energy to be out every day looking for a job. But I've been working pretty hard here. I've just been so grateful for everyone. Without my support system here, I wouldn't be able to do a lot of stuff I've been accomplishing. I gotta get my basic needs met in order to take care of myself. And people that work here, they care."

Judge

Affordable and accessible housing, coupled with supportive services, is the key to ending youth homelessness. TGTHR's housing programs put young people on a path toward long-term stability and help prevent them from reexperiencing homelessness.

1440 Pine is a 40-unit housing complex that provides an inclusive community with support staff and an array of services for young people between the ages of 18-24.

The Transitional Living Program connects young people between the ages of 18-24 with housing in the greater community. Once housed, Case Managers work with young people to help ensure they remain stably housed.

Through an overnight shelter, daytime drop-in center, and outreach team, The Source provides a safe, welcoming environment for all genders, ages 12-24, with the goal to move young people from unstable living situations to safety, stability, and improved physical and mental well-being.

TGTHR's model is to create a one-stop shop for as many resources as possible. In addition to meeting young people's basic needs and providing a safe place to stay as they gain stability, TGTHR provides an array of on-site supportive services and pro-social activities to build relationships with youth and help them achieve their goals.

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

"I moved around my whole life. This is the first time I've ever felt stable. Having a shower is great. I was homeless so now I'm really thankful. I've never been grounded ever. So this has been like, a place to gather back everything and find peace."

Chase House is a state-licensed Qualified Residential Treatment Program serving youth in the foster care system ages 12-18. TGTHR's Chase House provides a safe, homelike atmosphere for youth who have been placed by child welfare agencies due to family disruption.

While at Chase House, youth receive help with their schooling, family coaching services, life skills development, mental and physical wellness support, equine therapy, community integration, pro-social educational and recreational activities, and an array of individual and group activities. The goal is to prevent youth from aging out of the foster care system into youth homelessness.

OUR IMPACT

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

The path toward better outcomes for young people is unique and ever-changing.

Although every young person we meet has their own story, there are common factors that contribute to a youth experiencing homelessness such as domestic violence, abuse and neglect in the home, poverty, systemic racism, substance misuse in the household, mental health barriers, LGBTQ+ discrimination, and foster care involvement.

We continually focus on better understanding these factors and incorporate them into our services.

* Employment: 66 young people secured or maintained employment

* Recreational Activities: 128 young people engaged in recreational activities

JEDI

JUSTICE, EQUITY DIVERSITY, AND INCLUSION

At the core, ending youth homelessness is a cause rooted deeply in justice. We believe housing is a right, and we know that individuals who are Black, Indigenous and people of color (BIPOC), LGBTQ+, as well as those with disabilities, experience homelessness at disproportionate rates.

"All of the staff have been immensely supportive and have gone out of their way to make me feel safe. It makes it feel less like a shelter and more like a home. It's a breath of fresh air for somebody like me."

Kayden

In 2023, TGTHR's JEDI Committee helped facilitate progress toward becoming a more inclusive, diverse, and equitable organization.

JEDI STRATEGIC GOALS

- * Build an organization that is diverse and inclusive by reviewing hiring practices, pay & benefits structure, youth representation, and all internal policies.
- * Enhance internal processes, policies, and procedures by analyzing bias, reviewing vendor list, and creating a pay compensation policy.
- * Strengthen youth representation through a Young Adult Action Board who will support organizational decision-making.
- * Enhance diversity in board leadership by measuring diverse applicant pool, including youth, and recruiting people with lived experience.
- * Enhance anti-oppression education and training by creating a menu of core competency DEI trainings for board and staff members.
